WHOLE NO 1086

SENATOR M. S. QUAY IS DEAD

PASSED AWAY SATURDAY AFTER-NOON AT HIS HOME AT BEAVER, PENNSYLVANIA.

IMMEDIATE FAMILY, SENATOR PENROSE AND OTHERS AT BED-SIDE WHEN DEATH CAME.

Long and Brilliant Career Ends and Pennsylvania's Most Powerful and Distinguished Statesman Is No More on Earth.

By Associated Press.

Beaver Pa., May 28.—Senator Matthew Stanley Quay died at his home here today at 2.48 o'clock p. m.

All the immediate family were at his bedside awaiting the end. Senator Penrose, Miss Annie Pennypacker, of Washington, and W. E. Wright, of Philadelphia, until recently private secretary of the deceased senator, arrived today.

From early morning the senator's condition was alarming and it was stated that he could not live throughout the day.

The deceased had been in failing health some time and a week or so ago left Washington for his home to die as he thought at the time.

Senator Matthew Stanley Quay was born in Dillburg, York county, Pa., on September 30, 1833. He graduated at Jefferson college in 1850, was admitted to the bar in 1854, elected prothonotary of Beaver county in 1856, and 1859, was in the military service from 1861 to 1865, as lieutenant, in the 10th Pennsylvania reserves, and as colonel of the 134th Pa Volunteers, received congressional medal of honor, held other military positions, was private secretary to the governor of Pennsylvania, member of the legislature 1865-67, secretary of the commonwealth, 1872-8 and 1879-82, recorder of Philadelphia, 1878-9, state treasurer 1885, member of Republican national committee since 1880 and its chairman during the successful presidential campaign of 1888, member of executive committee, 18-0, United States senator from Pennsylvania, 1887-99, tried for misappropriation of public funds and acquitted April 21, 1899, appointed senator by Governor Stone the next day after the acquittal, reelected in 1901 and his term would have expired next year.

No man in public life and modern American history was more prominent than Senator Quay. As a political leader he was without a peer, as an organizer he had no equal, and to him is largely due the fact that Pennsylvania is so overwhelmingly Republican. As a statesman he was able and commanded the respect of all statesmen of the nation, both Republican and Democratic.
